BANK PORTFOLIO INFORMATION

The following tables show information relating to the historic performance of Eligible Accounts originated using Bank of Scotland's and LTSB's underwriting criteria, respectively. The Receivables from certain of these accounts will ultimately back the notes and comprise the Receivables Trust (the "Securitized Portfolio"). As mentioned in the Base Prospectus, a member of the Lloyds Banking Group may accede to the RSD as an Additional Transferor subject to certain conditions being satisfied.

The following tables do not include data after 30 September 2010 and such data is over 3 months old. There has been no material adverse change in the performance of the Bank Portfolio of Bank of Scotland and LTSB since 30 September 2010.

Receivables Yield Considerations

The following tables sets forth the gross revenues from finance charges and fees billed to Accounts in the Bank Portfolio of Bank of Scotland and LTSB for each of the years ended 31 December 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008 and 2009, and for the 9 months ended 30 September 2010. These revenues vary for each account based on the type and volume of activity for each account. The historical yield figures in these tables are calculated on an accrual basis. Collections of Receivables included in Penarth Receivables Trust will be on a cash basis and may not reflect the historical yield experience shown in the following tables. For further detail, please see page 165 of the Base Prospectus. Historical yield experience of the Bank Portfolio may not be indicative of future performance of the Bank Portfolio or the Securitized Portfolio.

(3) In 2008 a policy on repayment plans (temporary arrangements to reduce minimum payment terms) was implemented which included a stricter set of criteria for deciding which accounts would be accepted onto a repayment plan and restricted the duration of the plan to a maximum of 12 months.
An exercise to remove accounts still on repayment plans accepted under the old terms (when there was no maximum term and no minimum payment) commenced late in 2009, this has resulted in an increase in delinquencies as many of those accounts have failed to meet the contractual minimum monthly payments following their removal from the plan.

The following tables set forth the highest and lowest cardholder monthly payment rates for the Bank Portfolio during any month in the periods shown and the average cardholder monthly payment rates for all months during the periods shown, in each case calculated as a percentage of total opening monthly account balances during the periods shown. Payment rates shown in the table are based on amounts which would be deemed payments of Principal Receivables and Finance Charge Receivables with respect to the related credit card accounts.

INDICATIVE SECURITISED PORTFOLIO INFORMATION

As at 30 September 2010

The following tables show information relating to the historic performance as at 30 September 2010 of (i) LTSB credit cards accounts comprising the bank portfolio for LTSB (excluding legacy repayment plans), (ii) BOS credit cards accounts comprising the Prime Portfolio for BOS and (iii) the Securitised Portfolio following the addition of such LTSB and BOS Receivables, not all of which are Eligible Accounts.

The information below includes Receivables for which the billing address is located in Northern Ireland, which will not be Eligible Accounts on the Issue Date. Such ineligible accounts comprise 1.3 per cent. of the total receivables data set forth below (see Geographic Distribution of Accounts below). As future composition of the Securitised Portfolio may change over time, the historic performance shown in these tables are not necessarily indicative of the composition or performance of the Securitised Portfolio at any time subsequent to 30 September 2010.

Receivables Yield Considerations

The following tables set forth the gross revenues from finance charges and fees billed to accounts in (i) the LTSB credit cards accounts comprising the bank portfolio for LTSB (excluding legacy repayment plans (the "LTSB Indicative Portfolio")), (ii) BOS credit cards accounts comprising the Prime Portfolio for BOS (the "BOS Indicative Portfolio") and (iii) the Securitised Portfolio following the addition of such LTSB and BOS Receivables (not all of which are Eligible Accounts), for each of the years ended 31 December 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009 and for the 9 months ended 30 September 2010.

Tables are shown for the LTSB Receivables and BOS Receivables described above separately with a consolidated table for the Securitised Portfolio following the addition of such Receivables, certain of which will ultimately back the notes and comprise the Securitised Portfolio (the "Indicative Portfolio"). The revenues vary for each account based on the type and volume of activity for each account. The historical yield figures in these tables are calculated on an accrual basis. Collections of Receivables included in the Securitised Portfolio will be on a cash basis and may not reflect the historical yield experience in the tables below. For further detail, please see page 165 of the Base Prospectus. Historical yield experience shown in the following tables may not be indicative of future performance of the Securitised Portfolio.

Performance By Vintage

Bank of Scotland Performance By Vintage

The 2002/03 vintages experienced above average delinquencies and charge-offs relative to the total portfolio following higher recruitment of above market volumes, in line with the market growth strategy at the time. Since then BOS's acquisition underwriting strategies have undergone a complete overhaul and BOS has taken significant steps to reduce its exposure to these vintages by reducing open to buy on the higher risk segments.

Prior to 2004 BOS offered 3 standard products: a flat rate card, a cashback card and a teaser card with a promotion period of up to 6 months. The UK cards market was less competitive at this time, and initial APRs at the point of recruitment were typically higher; these vintages have a slightly higher yield. The differential margin compared to later vintages is reducing as BOS's risk based re-pricing strategy across the portfolio results in converging yield over time.

BOS launched The One Card in 2004, a market leading product with a strong introductory offer, lower APR and cashback reward. As a result, the volume of accounts acquired increased significantly; the quality of this vintage is above average. The reward proposition attracted a strong concentration of convenience users with a higher than average payment rate.

Pre 2005 vintages typically with richer rewards attracted a higher percentage of convenience users. As a result the payment rates on these vintages are stronger. From 2005 onwards BOS products have typically targeted the borrower population with rewards replaced by more attractive lower introductory period APRs. This has reduced the average payment rate on card accounts acquired since then.

In 2008 during the economic market dislocation, there was an industry-wide deterioration in the quality of business acquired. BOS undertook significant de-risking in response, with tighter cut-offs reducing volume and lower initial credit lines. This activity was undertaken during the second half of 2008 and into 2009. This has resulted in an improvement in the quality of the 2009 and 2010 vintages relative to the 2008 vintage.

LTSB Performance By Vintage

Prior to 2002, LTSB cards were predominantly marketed to existing bank customers who held a LTSB current account. The acquisition strategy was relationship based, rather than price led, with few competitive introductory offers. Yields are relatively high on these vintages and charge offs tend to be lower as customer performance data on existing LTSB products was used to enhance the credit decision at the point of acquisition.

Between 2002 and 2005, LTSB started to pursue a more aggressive marketing strategy with competitive introductory rate offers attracting new to bank customers who were more likely to be borrowers with higher balances. Payment rates on this population are lower with higher charge off rates compared to previous vintages. These customers also received higher initial credit limits than subsequent vintages; recent customer management activity has focussed on reducing the credit limits of higher risk customers within this population.

In July 2007, LTSB launched the Airmiles Duo card, taking over the Airmiles banking relationship from NatWest. This product rewards credit card spending with Airmiles and attracted a higher proportion of new to bank customers. The reward proposition resulted in an increase in the concentration of convenience users, which has increased the payment rate and reduced delinquencies and charge offs on vintages since then.

In the first half of 2009, there was a significant tightening of scorecard criteria on the portfolio and new, more accurate scorecards were introduced. As a result, the delinquency performance from this vintage is better than other vintages. Gross yields have declined as less interest income has been earned, but profit per customer has remained high due to lower impairment losses.
